Become a Google Search Gooru

Just Use Minus!

If you're searching the Internet and notice results that you don't want, simply exclude those items. Here's how:

1. A student is researching "cowboys" in a history class. A search for "cowboys" will return many items pertaining to the Dallas Cowboys.

2. To exclude anything with "Dallas," enter "Cowboys -Dallas" in the Google search box
3. The search could be refined even more to "Cowboys -Dallas -Oklahoma -football" to return even better results.

Give it a try today. You'll be pleased with the results!
